

John Gravel – Biography

John Gravel proudly serves immigrants and refugees in French and English as a staff lawyer with the South office of Community Legal Services of Ottawa legal clinic. For the past few years, John has appeared extensively as counsel to refugee claimants before the Immigration and Refugee Board and challenged Board decisions on judicial review at the Federal Court of Canada.

In another life, John worked for an indigenous research group, articulated with Nelligan O'Brien Payne in Ottawa, and practiced as a federal Crown in Saskatchewan in tax, class actions, and Aboriginal litigation.

John is interested in administrative law, and access to justice issues.